

ENow Announces new Exchange 2010 Monitoring and Reporting Features

Mailscape provides insight into Exchange 2010 DAGs

[ORLANDO, TechMentor Orlando 2010 – Wednesday, 10 March 2010]

Today ENow announced new Exchange 2010 monitoring and reporting functionality as part of their Feature Pack 1 release for Mailscape V4.5. Mailscape is an award-winning total systems management tool that combines Exchange monitoring, reporting, and administrative features in one solution. The most notable enhancement in this update is a new feature that allows administrators to verify, monitor and report on the hottest new Exchange 2010 feature — Database Availability Groups.

The Mailscape Feature Pack 1 update also includes a new report that allows administrators to easily track storage growth over time and provides the ability to view the information from all levels in Exchange including organization, server, storage group and databases. Other updates include new OWA and ActiveSync auto functionality tests for Exchange 2003. Finally, some new public folder reports were introduced for Exchange 2007 and 2010 that enable administrators to address the challenge of cleaning up public folder implementations. These reports make it easy to identify public folders that have not been used so that disk space can be reclaimed.

ENow is the platinum sponsor of TechMentor Orlando 2010, an event which focuses specifically on real-world solutions that IT professionals can utilize now for both current and emerging technologies. This year's conference features dynamic speakers such as J. Peter Bruzzese, Mark Minasi, Don Jones, Rhonda Layfield and Greg Shields who are conducting in-depth seminars on a variety of poignant topics, including Microsoft R2 technology, Virtualization, and Exchange and Unified Communications.
